Be the Best that You Can Be

In our first special mentions assembly of the year, we began our assembly with a special mention to Queen Elizabeth II.

We remembered the happy time celebrating her Platinum Jubilee earlier this year .

We thought about how the Queen was an excellent leader, who demonstrated our own shared values.

8th September 2022

I know of no single formula for success. But over the years I have observed that some attributes of leadership are universal and are often about finding ways of encouraging people to combine their efforts, their talents, their insights, their enthusiasm and their inspiration to work together.

Whether you're a Royalist or not, the news of the Queen's death can have an impact on people for all sorts of different reasons.

Having wall-to-wall media coverage about grief and funerals can stir up our own feelings of grief for those we have lost. Those feelings can leave people feeling emotional which can manifest itself in all sorts of ways. So, whatever your personal response to the Queen's death, let's all be extra kind to each other over the coming days as you just never know how or why this is impacting on someone around you.

It has been wonderful to welcome your children back to school this week.

We are focusing on our shared value of excellence and this week have been practising whole school routines, such as using marvellous manners, legendary lining up and walking around school. The children are already demonstrating excellent attitudes and making most of the opportunities each day brings.

As parents/carers they need your help to demonstrate excellent attendance and to make sure that they are wearing the correct dress code. It has been great to see so many children proudly wearing Normand Croft colours.

Class teachers will be speaking to you if your child is not coming to school in the correct clothing.

School shoes need to be black and trainers for PE need to be plain black, white, green or grey.

Smart watches and jewellery should not be worn.

Thank you for your support.

Be Safe, Be Kind, Be The Best That You Can Be Early Years and Primary Learning

A very warm welcome to our new Early Years families who have joined us this year. The children have loved exploring the Reception classroom and garden this week. We look forward to welcoming our Nursery children on Monday 12th September.

Primary Poetry

Children in classes 1-6 have been enjoying listening to, reading and performing poems written by Joseph Coelho. His poem 'Say How You Feel' was used as inspiration before children write their own poetry based on different feelings.

Dates for diaries.
